

- The commencement of World War II was initiated by Germany's invasion of Poland on September 1, 1939.

.....

- The principal Allied Powers comprised the United States, the Soviet Union, the United Kingdom, and China. The Axis Powers were led by Germany, Italy, and Japan.

.....

- The Battle of Stalingrad (1942-1943) marked a pivotal moment on the Eastern Front, where the Soviet Union successfully repelled German forces, leading to a transformative shift in the war's dynamics.

.....

- The Battle of Midway (1942) wielded substantial influence in the Pacific theater, as the United States decisively defeated Japan, crippling its naval capabilities and altering the balance of power in the region.

.....

- Key figures among the Allied leaders included Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, and Joseph Stalin. The Axis Powers were under the leadership of Adolf Hitler, Benito Mussolini, and Emperor Hirohito.

.....

- The Holocaust denoted the systematic genocide orchestrated by the Nazis, resulting in the tragic extermination of six million Jews and millions of others through methods such as concentration camps, mass shootings, and gas chambers.

.....

- The Normandy Invasion on June 6, 1944, served as a monumental amphibious assault by the Allies in Western Europe. Its success enabled the establishment of a western front, ultimately leading to the liberation of Nazi-occupied Western Europe.

.....

- The Battle of Britain (1940) proved pivotal in the European theater, as the Royal Air Force successfully thwarted German attacks, preventing a potential invasion and boosting the morale of the Allied forces.

.....

- The strategic island-hopping approach involved capturing key islands while bypassing heavily fortified ones. This tactic facilitated the Allies' gradual approach toward Japan, avoiding direct assaults on strongly defended positions.

.....

- The Yalta Conference in 1945 played a crucial role in the post-war landscape by delineating occupation zones in Germany and Europe. It also set the stage for the ideological rift between the Allies, particularly the United States and the Soviet Union, giving rise to the Cold War.